2. Purpose

The IDC administers the Industrial Policy Support Fund (IPSF) on behalf of the Department of Trade, Industry and Competition ("the dtic"). This tender is therefore facilitated by the IDC on behalf of the dtic.

The South African Taxidermy is an industry with potential for growth and employment creation across a number of industries. However, the industry has remained fragmented and unused to its full capacity. The purpose of this undertaking is to request proposals from potential service providers to conduct a full study on the South African Taxidermy & Game Skin Industry and propose a concrete and practical strategy for the taxidermy and game skin tannery sector. The strategy focus will be the development of appropriate interventions for the growth, transformation, access to markets, employment creation, and further applications of the industry products.

3. Background Information

South Africa is the third most biological diverse country in the world in terms of species richness and endemism. Conservation and sustainable utilisation of South Africa's renewable resources are thus of strategic importance in terms of provision ecosystem service, now and in the future. These species richness provides an important basis for economic growth and development across a number of industries that underpins the well-being for society.

The biodiversity economy of South Africa encompasses the business and economic activities that either depend on biodiversity for their core business or that contribute to conservation of biodiversity through their activities. The biodiversity economy in South Africa focuses on two sectors, Bioprospecting and Wildlife. The latter is based on four pillars, hunting, breeding, and eco-tourism and wildlife products (including amongst others game meat, taxidermy and game skin tannery). The focus of this exercise is on taxidermy and tannery, an industry that requires appropriate intervention for its growth and impact on the rest of the value chain.

The Wildlife Industry value chain is centred on wildlife and wildlife ranching activities that are related to the breeding, hunting, eco-tourism and production of game products that include game meat, taxidermy, game skin tannery and by-products. This value chain requires a support strategy for its growth enhancement. The key drivers of the taxidermy and tannery industry, a niche industry in the value chain, are the art products that are derived from the game hunting, using the skin to produce various animal trophies, which is a labour intensive activity. The potential for export of trophies and skins is huge. The industry has high linkages with other industries including furniture, footwear, textile and leather accessories. Furthermore, the sector is characterised by an interesting combination of agriculture, eco-tourism and conservation characteristics.

4. Problem Statement

The NDP, vision 2030 was introduced to guide South Africa's efforts to grow the economy, create jobs and eliminate poverty and inequality. The economic chapter sets specific targets for the country, which include accelerating GDP growth to 5.4% by 2030; increasing the labour force participating rate from 54% in 2010 to 65% in 2030; creating 11 million additional jobs by 2030; reducing unemployment rate to 14% by 2020 and 6% by 2030; and increasing investment as percentage of GDP to 30%, amongst others. This a challenge for the country and its economy in its actual growth path. The potential for the taxidermy and tannery industry, if appropriate support strategy is developed, can contribute largely to the achievement of the 2030 NDP vision.

The 2013 Absa Agriculture Outlook shows private wildlife ranching encompasses more than nine thousand (9000) wildlife ranches (from about 3 500 in year 1992), using more than 20 million hectares of land. The Northern Cape houses approximately 19.5% of South Africa's wildlife ranches, while Eastern Cape is 12.3%. South Africa hosts 20 million game animals, 16 million of which are found in private land and the remaining 4 million on state-owned land. This demonstrate that the industry has a great opportunity for growth with multipliers across its value chain, mainly with private wildlife ranching. Therefore, a strategy that takes in to account the South African context is needed.

The 2016 Biodiversity Operation Phakisa's aspiration is to create an inclusive sustainable and responsive wildlife economy that grows at 10% p.a. until at least 2030. The aspiration should provide a foundation for social well-being and maintaining the ecological resource base through economic growth, transformation and sustainability. The strategy will be developed as a response to such aspiration.

In regard to that aspiration, the dtic is commissioning appointing a suitable service provider that will conduct a study of the industry and develop a strategy for the South African taxidermy and tannery industry. The strategy should be immediately implementable for the growth of the industry in terms of contribution to GDP, employment creation, transformation and access to local and global markets. The development of such strategy should provide insight on how to address the challenges currently faced by the sector, determine the growth path for the sector and specify about the manner in which value is being added to the overall national biodiversity economy strategy and contribution to the economy.

5. Objectives

The objective of this RFP is to appoint a suitable independent service provider that will support the dtic to undertake the development of a national strategy for the South African taxidermy and game skin tannery industry within a period of nine (9) months. The strategy will seek to address challenges and opportunities for the growth and stimulation of the sector for local and export markets penetration, job creation, transformation and disinhibition of the industry.

CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids<sup>1</sup> invited.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).<sup>2</sup> Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
  - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution's supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
  - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
- 4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

<sup>2</sup> Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.
