2. Background Information

One of Infrastructure South Africa's (ISA) mandate, hosted by the Industrial Development Corporation (IDC), is to provide support to project sponsors in the development of robust business cases through specialized project evaluation expertise and financial structuring and designing fit-for-purpose funding solutions for public sector infrastructure projects and programmes. Considering this, the Mangaung District Hospital Project was registered with ISA for consideration.

The National Health Strategic Service Transformation Plan proposed the reshaping of the available delivery points so that the correct levels of care are adhered to, relieving the service bottlenecks, and increasing staff satisfaction and morale towards greater recruitment and retention of scarce skills. Some of the existing facilities are beyond any form of rehabilitation and thus require new facilities with modern efficiencies to be constructed. To address the issue of replacing old and dysfunctional facilities, the Free State Province embarked on a Facilities Revitalization Programme under the National Department of Health, funded through the Health Facilities Revitalization Grant. The programme aims to modernize, reconfigure, refurbish, and replace facilities to ensure efficient, high-quality, and cost-effective healthcare, which is affordable and sustainable in the medium to long term.

The current district hospital that serves the greater Bloemfontein area, was constructed in 1935 and has 200 approved beds of which only 124 are functional due to infrastructure constraints. Over the years the population of the catchment area of the hospital has grown to a level where 360 level 1 beds are required.

The proposed new Mangaung Hospital is a replacement for the National District Hospital which provides level 1 service to the Bloemfontein central town and the surrounding communities. The new hospital will be operating as a district hospital. Inpatients, outpatients, and emergency departments will enjoy Primary Care Services up to a General Practitioner's level. The in-patients will be district-level beds. Patients with complications, problematical conditions, and serious health issues will be referred to regional and tertiary-level hospitals.

The objectives of the project are as follows:

- Construction of 360 level one district hospital in Bloemfontein, Mangaung.
- Improve access and service delivery of appropriate health care services to the community of Mangaung.
- Relieve the workload on Pelonomi Hospital in the interest of the greater community. The National Hospital refers most of the surgery and emergency cases to Pelonomi due to shortcomings in infrastructure health technology and human resource constraints, resulting in overburdening patient numbers at an inappropriate level of care.
- Manage and reduce running and maintenance costs through the replacement of old technologies and old buildings. The reliability of engineering systems is very low due to age and outdated technology.
- Reduction of stress among medical staff by providing modern facilities for patient care.

The Infrastructure South Africa (ISA) wishes to appoint a service provider to develop a comprehensive feasibility study for the Mangaung District Hospital which will include amongst others a full business case for the project, as well as provide a plan for project development, execution, and operations through the various phases of the project.

The Free State Health Department developed a basic feasibility study in November 2004, developed an operational brief (2013), procurement plan, and drawings, and subsequently adjusted the costs to 2022 terms. These draft documents will be shared with the successful service provider for updating.
